Audit

OJC has put in position professionals to understand the unique elements of the business, its culture, the industry it operates in and identify competition and the inherent risks associated with it.

Financial Audit

We strongly believe that independence of auditors cannot be over emphasized, when acting as a trusted link between the providers of financial information and the user's same information. Transparency is always required by stakeholders in the wake of the recent trends of financial and economic crises. We are committed to provide such transparency by always adjusting the manner we operate. Having in mind the requirements of our clients and adopting techniques and new processes that enable us to make the audit more relevant and always add value to our clients at large.

and the risks involved in business. Our firm's non-financial assurance services help our clients learn how to define, capture, and report non-financial indicators. This creates an avenue to protect their reputations, foster trust amongst their stakeholders and bolster the overall performance.

Companies immensely benefit from assurance that exceeds the conventional external audit. Independent and objective assurance on both financial and non-financial information, transactions and processes adds credibility to the disclosure and reporting of such organisations.
